Name It: Understanding Anti-Black Racism in Ontario

This workshop will use an anti-oppressive framework and a historical approach to explore anti-Black racism within a Canadian educational context. Participants will explore how anti-Black racism is interwoven into the fabric of our education system and society at large through case studies, deconstruction of key terminologies, personal reflections, statistics, and data.

Islamophobia Affects All Our Students

Islamophobia is a prejudice against, hatred toward or fear of Islam or Muslims. This workshop is designed to build awareness relating to issues of Islamophobia and critically examine personal and professional biases, explore resources to meet the diverse needs of schools that represent a multiplicity of perspectives and encourage members to take further actions relating to inclusion within their classrooms, schools, families and communities.
